Missing link in UGC's foreign university plans

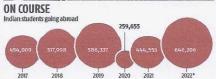

Educational emigration will remain high unless India strengthens the skill development ecosystem in higher education, say students and teachers

Indian students pursuing higher education degrees are not very excited about foreign uninessities setting up campuses in India. Last month, the University erants Commission (UGG) unveiled draft norms for allowing, for the first time, foreign universities to set up campuses in India with autonomy to decide the admissional control of the control of th sion procedure and fee structure. But stu-dents and teachers believe that foreign campuses will not be enough to stymie educational emigration.

A report on international migration pat-terns by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development also recenterns by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development also recently poinced out that Indians studying in economically developed countries were the most likely among all foreign students to say back in their host country and join to say back in their host country and join to say back in their host country and join students went abroad in 2022 to pursue higher education, according to data shared by the education ministry in Parliament (see chart, The data also showed that most Indian students preferred Canada, the US and UK to pursue degree course. Fore-ign varsities that offer their curricula in in-dia can only provide a part of the experien-cenfoyed by students who southy abroad." UGC Chalimam M. Jagadesh iximar has different view. "The number of Indian students who want to study abroad will be more than a million in the near future. Campuses of foreign universities in India can admit only a faction of the students going abroad. Therefore, those who go abroad for possible immigration after studies will continue to go abroad." he told 1977. GPT-based chat apps see a spike in downloads in India

The growing popularity of artificial intel-ligence (AI)-based GPT technology apps for chat has caught on in India as well, as they are being downloaded in vast numbers

This is reflected in the sharp increa in their rankings, based on the number of times they have been downloaded in In-dia, according to data from Sensor Tower dia, according to data from Sensor Tower and App Annie (now known as data.al). While there is no available data on the seast number of downloads, many experts and chatbots say it is an estimated one million over the last couple of months.

GPT or Al-based Generative Pre-Training Transformer chat technology has taken the world by storm since it was launched last November by research lab OpenAl In San Prancisco.

OpenAI in San Francisco.

GPT is a neural machine learning technology trained by using data from technology trained by using data from the internet to generate and type text. The user gives a prompt to the app, asking a question, and in seconds GPT gives a written response. Its potential has gener-

A Whole Outmallon of Indian start-ups

A whole battallon of Indian start-ups has also joined the party though it is currently difficult to ascertain their total number. But there is growing concern about how many of the apps downloaded in India are fakes and even whether they are delivering the OPT technology they claim they are, especially as some users are moving to a subsectificity on model with helty changes starting from 499. He believes the solution is to get third-party endorsement that the apps are actually doing what they claim. The only way to ascertain the genuineness of their claims, be adds, is by asking for a bill of material from the app developers for all the libraries that have gone into the malding of the software. This can opers for all the libraries that have gone into the making of the software. This can then be certified by companies like ArmorCode.

Missing link in UGC's foreign university plans

Educational emigration will remain high unless India strengthens the skill development ecosystem in higher education, say students and teachers

Indian students pursuing higher education degrees are not very excited about foreign universities setting up campuses in India. Last month, the University Grants Commission (UGC) unveiled draft morms for allowing, for the first time, foreign universities to set up campuses in India with automy for the first time, foreign universities to set up campuses, dents and teachers believe that foreign campuses will not be enough to stymic educational emigration.
A report on International migration parterns by the Oraginastion for Economic economically developed countries were the most likely among all foreign students to stay back in their host country and join the local workforce. Over 650,000 Indian students went abroad in 2022 to pursua-higher education, according to data shared by the education ministry in Parliamen (see chart). The data also showed that mos (see chart). The data also showed that most Indian students preferred Canada, the US and UK to pursue degree courses. "The UGC's move assumes that stude-

An assistant professor at Delhi University, who did not wish to be named, said, "Indian students who wish to bring their skills on a par with global industry requirements, would in fact prefer to go to a university. For instance in the US, international students can take courses for credit in automotive service technologies, circuithoral design, and weaving as part of their Masters and PhDs.

Gupta said most students applying for foreign degrees were, in fact, using these as stepping stones for job opportunities in the US, UK, Canada or elsewhere. Temporary employment opportunities like optional practical training and curricular practical training, which are often built into the degree programmes, sursue that students are tuned in to the industry standards and Naveen Garg, dean, international programme, at ITT Delhi, agreed. "While we local know world-class infrastructure, courses and and teaching faculties, the higher education account in India needs to be more thoroughly integrated with the job market, in terms of apprenticeships, skill-training workshops, and vecational courses. Close on the heels of OpenAI's launch, both Google and Microsoft, not wanting to be left beful, announced lare weekthat they would incorporate GPF into their search engines.

According to Sensor Tower, Open Chat, a popular chatbot app that is headquartered in Victuam and was released last December, has seen a phenomenal rise in its rankings in India, based on downloads.
